

Jane Austen Summer Program
Chapel Hill/Carrboro, NC

FACT SHEET

CONTACT: Jennifer Abella, Associate Director
jenny.abella@gmail.com

Oct. 6, 2022

JANE AUSTEN SUMMER PROGRAM SCHEDULES UPCOMING EVENTS

About Jane Austen Summer Program:

- Nonprofit organization in Chapel Hill/Carrboro, North Carolina, founded in 2013 by Inger Brodey and James Thompson.
- Award-winning, annual, four-day symposium each summer, focusing on one of Austen's works. JASP attracts a wide range of participants with a passion for Jane Austen: scholars, non-scholars and people from all walks of life.

Upcoming Events:

- A Day Out with Emma is scheduled for noon on Dec. 3, 2022, at PlayMakers Repertory Company in Chapel Hill, North Carolina. Included in the event is a Q&A with the cast, workshops, refreshments and tickets to the production of "Emma" at 7:30 p.m.
Options Available:
 - Box Hill: Admission is $150 to all pre-show talks and activities, plus reserved group seating for "Emma." Reserve by Nov. 18, limited spots available.
 - Highbury: Admission is $125 to all pre-show talks and activities. Does not include the stage performance.
 - Hartfield: Limited-time access to videos of some of the talks after the event is $25. Does not include in-person admission to pre-show talks and activities or performances.
- The Jane Austen Summer Program 2023 takes place June 15-18, 2023, in Chapel Hill/Carrboro, North Carolina. The symposium's focus will be on Austen's collection of teenage writings, including, "Lady Susan." Attendees will experience presentations, panels, small-group discussions, workshops and theatricals. For more information, visit the blog.

For more information visit: Website, Instagram, Facebook and Twitter